

Children's Online Privacy Protection Act (COPPA)

As a widespread and readily available resource, the Internet presents many possibilities and challenges for young users. We understand this and are committed to providing children with a safe and rewarding online experience. Children who visit our Web site are free to access the various features our site offers without disclosing any personal information. Neither do we solicit or knowingly collect any information directly from children or passively through the use of cookies. Should it ever come to our attention that a child's personal information has somehow been provided to us, we will immediately delete that information. Persons having any questions or concerns about our privacy policy may contact our Webmaster at info@sneconline.org or write to:
